A report must be made to their supervisor if there is a need to file a petition for guardianship. Behavior Treatment Plan Review Committee (BTPRC) can also be consulted if needed. Evaluation of the ability to give consent shall precede any guardianship proceedings.
9. When an element of force, duress, deceit, or any other form of coercion is present, requests for informed consent shall not be made without intervention in that coercion.

2. The minor's parent, guardian or loco parentis will not be informed of the services without the consent of the minor, unless the mental health professional treating the minor determines that there is a compelling need for disclosure, based upon a substantial probability of harm to the minor or to another individual. The minor must be notified of the treatment professional's intent to inform the minor's parent, guardian, or person in loco parentis.

3. Services provided to the minor are limited to not more than twelve sessions or four months per request for services. After the twelfth session or fourth month of services, the mental health professional will terminate the services, or with the consent of the minor notify the parent, guardian, or person in loco parentis to obtain consent to provide further outpatient services.

DEFINITIONS:

"Informed Consent" means a written agreement executed by a recipient, a minor recipient's parent, or a recipient's legal representative with authority to execute a consent, or a verbal agreement of a recipient that is witnessed and documented by an individual other than the individual providing treatment. All of the following are elements of informed consent:

- a. Legal Competency: An individual shall be presumed to be legally competent. This presumption may be rebutted only by a court appointment of a guardian, or exercise by a court of guardianship powers, and only to the extent of the scope and duration of the guardianship. An individual shall be presumed legally competent regarding matters that are not within the scope and authority of the guardianship. [Administrative Rule 30.7003]
- b. Knowledge. To consent, a recipient, or legal representative must have basic information about the procedure, risks, other related consequences, and other relevant information. The standard governing required disclosure by a doctor is what a reasonable patient needs to know in order to make an informed decision. Other relevant information included all of the following:
 - I. The purpose of the procedure
 - II. A description of the attendant discomforts, risks, and benefits that can reasonably be expected.
 - III. A disclosure of appropriate alternatives advantageous to the person served.
 - IV. An offer to answer further inquiries.

- c. Comprehension: An individual must be able to understand what the personal implications of providing consent will be based upon the information provided under subdivision (b) of this subrule.
- d. Voluntariness: There shall be free power of choice without the intervention of an element of force, fraud, deceit, duress, overreaching, or other ulterior form of constraint or coercion, including promises or assurances or privileges or freedom. There shall be an instruction that an individual is free to withdraw consent and to discontinue participation or activity at any time without prejudice to the person served.
